THE HOCKEY RESUME

At the end of the first period at last Friday's hockey game it looked as though McGill were going to win; at the end of the second period we were still leading 3-2, but by the time the final siren blew, the Navy team had won. Our boys started off well with Bob Blair and Bud Farmer both scoring in the first period, but then in the second stanza, Buchanan broke loose and dented the twine twice within 61 seconds to tie up the game. Five minutes later, Bruce Ward scored on a pass from Tommy Hale putting the Redmen ahead, the second period ending with McGill up one goal. In the final frame, Poulton clinched the game for the sailors connecting twice, and thus put the Navy in the league leadership.

It was a tough game for the Redmen to lose. They had lead for most of the game, and if it had not been for Navy's Harry Poulton and Bruce Ward's unearned costly penalty, the final score might have been in our favour. The McGill team, nevertheless, were no easy pushover for the sailors, and their next game should prove to be quite a battle. Coach Bell seemed satisfied with his boys, though it certainly was a tough break to lose the way the Redmen did. Next Friday night McGill tangle with the Army in the first game of the regular double-header, Navy meeting Air Force in the nightcap. Will you be there to cheer your team on to victory?

FOR GIRLS ONLY

From what this columnist hears about that popular game called badminton, all you gals who are not swinging at a bird seem to be missing something. To prove this, many girls can be seen playing badminton every Tuesday night at R.V.C. from 7.30-10.00, and at the present time are in the midst of intersection play, the first round having taken place last night. To make things more interesting, on Saturday nights, there is mixed badminton which takes place at the Gym from 7.00-10.30, and offers everything that a Saturday night possibly could. "It's fun and easy to learn" is what most girls say, so if you want a vigorous game to help keep your weight down, turn out and try hitting the cork with the feathers in it any Tuesday or Saturday night.

BASKETBALL SUMMARY

The McGill C.O.T.C. team opened their current season in the Defence Basketball League by decisively beating the No. 5 Manning Depot squad last Friday night. Coach Van Wagner boys were triumphant by the score of 29-4, and combined both accurate shooting and skillful passing for their first victory of the season. The game was quite one sided, and the Air-men were at the mercy of the Redmen for most of the evening. The leading scorer of the game was McGill's Leo Rosenzweig, a former Queen's hooper who counted for 8 points, while Sam Eastwood and Ned Mahon scored six and five points respectively. MacLean of the Air Force team scored 3 of their 4 points.

Harvey and Lunan Speak To Students

By-election in Outremont Is Topic Discussed

There will be a meeting in the Union Grill Room tomorrow afternoon at 5.00 p.m. to discuss the significance of the current by-election in Outremont. The gathering will be addressed by Jean Charles Harvey, Editor of "Le Jour," and by Mr. Gordon Lunan, publicity manager of the Quebec Committee for Allied Victory.

Mr. Harvey will explain the background of the Outremont by-election and show who is behind each candidate. Mr. Lunan will speak on "Unity, its Aspects and Interpretations," with special reference to the election. Mr. Lunan has travelled widely throughout Europe, and has studied conditions here for the past four years, and is leaving next week to join the armed forces.

Contentious

In the election referred to above, the contestants are Major General LaFleche, D.S.O., Minister of National War Services, and Jean Drapeau, noted for his anti-conscription views, and who claims to represent the youth of Quebec in this matter. The meeting tomorrow is being planned to show that this is not the case.

The difference between the two contestants is that, while General LaFleche is an advocate of an all-out effort for victory, his opponent

Cosmos Meet Today in Union

College Papers To Be Subject At Luncheon

The Cosmopolitan Club will meet today in the Union Grill room at 1.00 p.m. for its weekly luncheon gathering, during which a short talk on "College Newspapers of the World" will be presented by the Editor-in-Chief of the McGill Daily.

This talk, which is to be the fifth in the series, is one of a group designed to bring about an understanding of the customs and ways of thought of people in other parts of the world. The expressed purpose of these is an integrated part of the general aim of the club to promote international understanding and good will, and to break down prejudices of colour, race and creed, so rampant in the world at the present time.

The previous talks have been concerned with individual experiences of club members in foreign countries, including Canada, and with the customs and folk-lore of other peoples. However, this week, in the light of the recent international student demonstrations, the executive felt that it would be appropriate to have a talk more directly concerned with students. The Editor has had most of his contact with college dailies from abroad as exchange editor of the Daily last year.

Saskatchewan University Students Are Drafted

An undisclosed number of students at the University of Saskatchewan who defaulted in military training have been ordered to cease their studies. They must now report to a basic training centre for compulsory service.

Mr. Justice J. F. L. Embury, chairman of the National War Services Board, Saskatchewan section, in announcing this order, said that the students had failed to fulfill university military requirements. They did not complete camp training last spring.

The students were examined at a board hearing Saturday.

Radio Players Discuss Plans

Workshop Meets On Saturday In Music Room

There will be a very important meeting of the Radio Workshop on Saturday afternoon at 5.00 p.m. in the Music Room of the McGill Union, stated Stan Eldinger, a member of the executive. The time of the meeting has been postponed from 2.30 because of A Wing C.O.T.C. manoeuvres on the same Saturday. It has come to the attention of the executive that there are several difficulties confronting the new organization. It is to iron out these difficulties that the meeting has been called. All future plans of the Workshop will also be presented. It is therefore essential that all members of the Workshop attend. There will also be a casting for the next production under the direction of Allan Thomson.

The Radio Workshop has already had two of its plays recorded, at local radio stations, one of which was broadcast over station CFCF in connection with the recent Victory Loan. All plays used by the Workshop are original - written by members of the Scriptwriting Division. There are also division for Acting, Directing, and Sound-Effects, so that the members may have aid in whatever branch of radio most interests them.

Hughes Speaks To Sociologists

Former McGill Professor Talks On Minorities

Dr. Everett Hughes, Professor of Sociology at the University of Chicago, and a former professor at McGill, is to be the guest speaker of the Sociological Society this weekend. Dr. Hughes will speak to a combined meeting of Economics and Sociology students on Friday, November 27, at 11 o'clock in Moyse Hall. Later on in the day Dr. Hughes will address honor students of the social sciences at a second meeting.

Coming as he does from Chicago which is considered to be the fountain-head of sociological thought in America, Dr. Hughes, who is an expert in the study of social institutions and race relations, will speak to the morning gathering on the minority groups and problems associated with them.

In the eleven years in which Dr. Hughes taught in the Department of Sociology at McGill, he developed an interest in the problem of the contact of the French-Canadian and the English Canadian cultures, and this interest has culminated in a study of Drummondville, an industrial town in the Eastern Townships, the manuscripts for which he recently completed. Dr. Hughes' writings have appeared in Canadian as well as American journals, and a number of these have been briefly summarized by members of the Sociological Society and will be available to students in mimeographed form on Friday. The respective heads of the Economics and Sociology departments, Drs. Hemmion and Dawson, are especially anxious that all students, irrespective of course, take advantage of the facilities afforded by Moyse Hall to hear the speaker.

Union Informal to Feature Eddie Alexander This Friday

For the small sum of $1.00 the Union Tuck Shop, Bill Gentleman in the Arts Building, and Fred Barton in the Engineering Building will surrender a duet entitling the unsuspecting purchaser and his misuses to cruise contentedly about the barn-like expanses of the Union Ballroom come Friday, Nov. 27 at 9.00 p.m. The bout ends at 1.00 a.m.

The soiree, which is the first of the season, will present music by Eddie Alexander chef d'orchestre, followed at a respectable distance by the rest of the boys. Eddie has officiated at many Union informals in by-gone days, and a circular letter has been sent out by the Department of Physical Education that a half-credit in Danish Calisthenics 4B will be granted to each and every ticket-purchaser.

To meet the needs of the inner man, functionaries of the event have decreed that the Union Grill Room will be open to provide couples with needed substance during the evening. So that overcrowding will be reduced to a minimum, the selfsame Grill Room will be open ALL evening, but the committee assumes no responsibilities for depleted exchequers should the young lady manifest an insatiable appetite.

Follow the throng on Friday night (no, bud, not THAT throng) and meet the mosta of the besta at the Union Informal.

Law Returns 75 Per Cent Of Quota; Commerce 38

Bill Gentleman Also Will Accept Students' Charity Contributions

First returns from the Amalgamated Charities Drive indicate that the Faculty of Law has met three-quarters of its quota, and that the School of Commerce has collected 38 per cent, or over one third of the amount assigned to it. Results of the drive in other faculties are not as yet forthcoming, since the returns have not been made.

Some difficulty is being experienced in the canvassing, owing to the fact that those making the collections are not acquainted with the students whose names they have on their lists. If these are anyone who has been overlooked, he is requested by the organizers of the Campaign, to hand in his contribution to Bill Gentleman in the Arts Building, at the same time leaving his name and faculty.

Those who are not being canvassed may also get into touch with their faculty's chairman; a list of these officials follows:

Arts and Science, Robert Macintosh; Commerce, Jack Russell; Engineering, Robert Killam; Law, William Stuart; Medicine, John Charters, Royal Victoria College, Janet Hamilton.

The drive this year has been scheduled to last one week, since it was felt that with the co-operation of the students this space of time should be quite sufficient. Formerly two weeks have always been required.

The quotas which each faculty is expected to fill in the course of the campaign are these:

Royal Victoria College$800
Arts and Science550
Commerce100
Engineering400
Architecture25
Medicine300
Dentistry60
Law25

If all quotas are filled, a total of

Dental Society To Hear Seller

Informal Dance To Take Place In Ballroom

The Dental Undergraduate Society has announced that there will be a meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. The meeting will be held in the Music Room on the Third Floor of the McGill Union.

The speaker at the gathering will be Dr. Seller, of the Faculty of Dentistry, who will give a talk on "The Use of Hydrocolloids in Inlay and Bridge Impressions."

Another Dental Undergraduate event which is scheduled for the near future is their Informal Dance, for which tickets are now on sale at $1.25 per couple. They may be obtained at the Union Tuck Shop, or at Bill Gentleman's office.

The dance, which will be held on December 5th, in the Union Ballroom, is open not only to Dental Undergrads, but to all McGill students.

Deadline For Arts and Crafts Exhibit Is Today

Today is the deadline for all contributions to the Arts and Crafts Exhibition. Entries should be handed in to Miss Johansen's office in the Redpath Museum before 5.00 p.m.

The exhibition is to be held in the Redpath Library; it will open on Nov. 30 and will last until Dec. 12. The committee wishes to remind every person connected with the University that they may hand in results of their hobbies as listed in the Arts and Crafts Bulletin.

Coloured films and lantern slides will be shown on certain nights to be announced in the "Daily." There will also be a box in which visitors will be asked to leave suggestions for next year's exhibition.

Parliament Is Staged Today

Discontinuance of Arts Studies in War Is Topic

The Mock Parliament, sponsored annually by the Debating Union, will be held today at 4.45 p.m. in the Union Ball Room. The government point of view on the subject, "Resolved, That Education in Arts be Discontinued for the Duration of the War," will be upheld by members of the Faculties of Engineering and Science.

The set-up of this parliament will resemble that of the actual parliament, with a member of the federal parliament, Brooke Claxton, as the Speaker of the House.

At the parliament, the Bovey Shield will be presented by Colonel Bovey to this year's winner of the Freshman Debating Contest, Rodney Mahabir, who will act in the capacity of Prime Minister. The leader of the opposition will be David Schwartzman, runner-up in the contest.

Each speaker will be permitted to have one supporter, who may talk for ten minutes. Twelve minutes will be allotted to the Leader. Following these speeches, the subject will be open to discussion by the Members of Parliament for a period of five minutes, after which the issue will be decided by the vote of the majority.

Students in every year and faculty will be welcome, and everyone present will be given the opportunity to vote, and also to speak, if time permits, said a member of the executive. A special invitation is extended to the girls, who will be given opportunities equal to those of the men students, unlike the Political Economy Club, said the President of the Debating Society. The issue at stake is one of fundamental importance, as well as of current interest, it was stated, and it will be in the interests of Art-men to "clearly and make explicit the function which they serve."

Macc. Circle Meets Sunday

Dr. Finer Speaks On Thinkers in Britain Today

On Sunday afternoon, the Macc. Circle will hold its second meeting of the current season, in the Union Reading Room. At 2.15 selections from modern classics will be played and then the guests will adjourn to the Grill Room where the actual meeting will be held at 3.15 p.m.

Dr. Finer, a former lecturer in Public Administration at the London School of Economics, the holder of two Rockefeller Scholarships, and the present head of the Reconstruction Committee of the International Labour Office, will be the guest speaker. The topic of Dr. Finer's address will be, "Rulers and Social Thinkers in Britain Today."

Dr. Finer will discuss the views towards the war of the members of the opposition in the government and also those of the press. He will deal with the trend of thought that is current in Britain today and the likely result in the following days of peace.

A general discussion and refreshments will follow Dr. Finer's address. All members of the R.C.A.F. stationed at McGill are invited by the executive to attend.

Tickets for Junior Prom Go on Sale Today; Dance To be Held in Gymnasium

C.O.T.C. Will Postpone Parades for Two Days

With the announcement that tickets for the Junior Prom go on sale today also comes word that the C.O.T.C. authorities will postpone all parades on the day of the dance and also on the following day. To take place on Friday, December 11th, in the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium, this year's Junior Prom will feature Blake Sewell and his band. The price of admission will be $4.00 per couple and will cover the tax and a supper. Dancing will start at 10.00 p.m. and will continue until 3.00 a.m.

To go on sale today, tickets for the Junior Prom may be purchased from Bill Gentleman in the Arts Building, Fred Barton in the Engineering Building, J. W. Marshall in the Medical Building, and in the McGill Union Tuck Shop. The price of the ticket is $4.00 per couple, tax included. This will cover a supper to be served at the dance in cabaret style.

The first campus formal of the year, it is expected that a record crowd will be in attendance at this dance. The R.C.A.F. Radio Locators stationed at McGill are extended a special invitation to attend this dance, stated the Chairman of the Prom Committee; and since the number of tickets that are going to be sold for this dance are limited, all interested are requested to buy their tickets now before there is a shortage as there was last year, added another member of the Committee.

Postpone Parades
Arrangements for the postponement of all parades on the day of the Prom and on the following day have been made with the C.O.T.C. Officers. Last year, similar arrangements were made with the military authorities and thus any possibilities of conflicts with parades were avoided.

All other arrangements for making

McGill Annual Appeals Again For Photographs

Prizes Offered To Winners of Student Contest

By Z.R.S.

Are there any students on the Campus who possess a little contraption commonly known as the camera? Are there any students on said Campus who are able to take pictures with said camera? Ridiculous questions, you might say with a sneer. "Of course I own a camera and can take darn good pictures, too."

All well and good. But—the fact remains that you have not taken any photos for the McGill Annual, even when a free Annual may be your reward. There are so many opportunities to take some good pictures around the campus. While you engineers are hanging around the various buildings whistling as the coeds go by, why not take your camera along with you, and "snap" at them too? If you have a grudge against a certain professor, why not take a "shot" at him as he is laughing at one of his own jokes, or bends down, gymnastic-fashion, to retrieve the chalk?

You Western gents must certainly have plenty of snaps from your little jaunt. Why not take them along to the Union? You know, it's unpatriotic to hoard. So come on, everybody, bring your big packages of pictures down to the Union Tuck Shop and save the editors a few grey hairs.

Moscow announced that the recent Soviet counter-attack was continuing successfully, and that within the last few days more than 15,000 Nazis had been killed, and that three Generals with their staffs had been captured. If the Russians continue their strategy as successfully as they have begun, then they will be able to surround and annihilate 300,000 German troops, a Soviet news-agency stated.

Just a Reminder

After two months of College it seems appropriate to remind students of the regulation that exists concerning military call ups. The regulation states that military call ups will be deferred if, and only if, the individuals concerned are students in good standing, and are taking the prescribed training as laid down by the Government.

Moreover those whose academic record during the session is not satisfactory, are subject to the military draft, and their deferment is at the special permission of the University authorities.

Students thus far have not considered this matter of sufficient seriousness to warrant their close attention, and as a result some may find themselves in the army before the end of the year or before they expected.

We must get it into our heads that we are at the university with the Government's permission, and because most students are pursuing a course that is beneficial to the country's war effort. But unless students show that they are worthy of this privilege that they enjoy, unless they indicate to the Government and the community that they are willing to do their share by making a reasonably good job of their studies, unless they accept all the so-called added burdens that come with this privilege in wartime, there is no need for them at the university. Furthermore the University is completely willing to dispense with their services, and the Government is completely willing to accept them.

So far students have responded admirably in most respects as pertain to the war and their functions as students. They willingly volunteered to help reap the crop at a time when lectures were very essential. They enrolled in the C.O.T.C. A wing and it is to their credit that over 90 per cent. have indicated their intention to go on active service not later than spring or upon completion of their courses.

In some respects students have realized their obligation to the country, and to those who sanction their attending the University at a time when it is the considered opinion that all able young men should be in the armed forces. In other respects, however, such as studies, donations to the charities, etc., they seem to have neglected their duties and these conditions should be remedied in great haste.

We would remind them in conclusion that a regulation exists whereby poor standing, academically, leaves students eligible for a draft call under the militia act, and that this question should be given far greater consideration than it has been in the past.

Music Notes

LUCIA DI LAMMERMOOR

When the heavy gold curtains of the Metropolitan Opera House rise on Nov. 28th, the huge radio audience will hear the first broadcast performance of the '42-'43 season, LUCIA DI LAMMERMOOR will be presented with a new production provided by the Met. Opera Guild and designed by Richard Rychtarik. Lily Pons will sing the title role of the Donizetti tragedy, with Jan Peerce as the ill-fated Edgardo, Thelma Volipka as Alisa, Leonard Warren as Ashton, Nicola Moscona as Raimondo, Alessio de Paolis as Arturo, and John Dudley as Normanno. Frank St. Leger will conduct.

Adapted by the librettist Cammerano from Scott's famous 'Bride of Lammermoor' at a time when all Italian Opera makers of the hour were clamouring to set Walter Scott's stories to music, this opera proved one of the few to remain on the active repertory of every opera house. In the maturity of his musical power, even though comparatively young, Donizetti composed this in two acts. Even though this work has often been treated with contempt, and been titled variously "a sham tragedy," an "obsolete prima donna opera," yet it has musical beauty in lavish measure and the constant throb of dramatic feeling. It is an old fashioned love story with sweetly poignant music—for example Lucia's cavatina, the highly difficult Mad Scene, the passionate and oft heard Sextet, and Edgardo's pathetic Tomb scene. Be the orchestration thin, yet may one apply Wagner's statement about LA FAVORITA to this work... "it possesses superior refinement and dignity."

LUCIA is a perennial favourite, and will be as long as singers really sing. Every leading coloratura studies and keeps Lucia in her repertory; even tenor must have Edgardo's role at his command. To sing Lucia is to be a consummate vocalist, and consequently varied versions—good, bad, and indifferent—have been presented. Today, as before, the perfect Lucia with a dramatic coloratura voice is rare. Donizetti composed LUCIA as no heroic score, but it was the outcome of a musical fecundity that would probably have achieved higher fruits, but for the cloud of madness—a strange coincidence in the case of one who wrote so many 'mad scenes'—coming to Donizetti in Paris in 1845, and imprisoning him in an asylum until his merciful death in 1848.

"UN DIVORCE"

AT THE ST. DENIS.

Cast.

Darras.....Marcel Chabrier
Lucien.....Jaques Catalain
Le Pere Euvrard.....Albert Duquesne
Gabrielle.....Fernande Albany
Mme. Darras.....Jeanne Demons
Berthe Planat.....Sita Riddez

"Un Divorce" is described in program notes as being a "clinical analysis of the effects upon a family of divorce and re-marriage." In one scene Le Pere Euvrard develops upon these principles, by telling Mme. Darras who has married for the second time, after having had a child by her first husband, and now wishes to become reconciled to the Catholic Church, that according to the laws of God she is not married to her second husband, that out of divorce can come nothing but sorrow and strife, that the children will be at warfare with their parents.

All these horrible prophecies come true, her son by her first husband becomes enamoured of a young girl who has had an illegitimate child. A comparison arises between this case and the case of the mother; finally the first husband dies conveniently and Mme. Darras is married legally (in the eyes of the church) to M. Barras and her son marries the wayward girl. An incredible amount of excitement about a situation that would ordinarily be settled without any melodrama.

The acting is hardly better than the story; Jaques Catalain as Lucien the infatuated young man, jumps from one hysteria to another without apparent ease. Jeanne Demons, as his mother, looks a little younger than he is, and faints several times in a most becoming fashion. Marcel Chabrier as M. Darras would be more enjoyable to watch, if he knew his part. Sita Riddez as the immoral Berthe Planat does not suit the part at all.

Altogether it is unfortunate that these actors should have to take parts in a play that would have been considered "corn" by audiences of 40 years ago, who enjoyed the Victorian melodramas.

Prom Preview

by John Cane

Let's hope the heart throb of the moment or the filler-in between heart throbs has come across with that longer-for invitation to the Junior Prom. If not, you'd better get to work on him pronto. May we suggest inviting him to dinner or describing your beautiful new evening gown (the one you've got or are going to get) and telling him how much you're dying for a chance to wear it. You might even try the "I'll bet you look very handsome in a dinner jacket" line on him. But he will have to be very green to fall for it. In fact, if he's that green, it would be wiser not to try it on him at all. He probably reads this column thinking... bless his little heart!... that thereby he will get inside information on how the female mind works.

MAY WE SUGGEST?

Well, supposing you have the invitation already, what next? May we suggest you start looking for an evening dress (only if you need a new one, of course) right away, as the number of really lovely, original gowns around the shops this year is certainly limited. Would

A DRESS TO REMEMBER

For the Prom and other College events of a wartime year, a dinner dress that deserves points for serviceability as well as charm. Different accessories will dress it up or down to suit the formality of the occasion. Pre-testing of the soft-draping rayon crepe gives you confidence in wear features so important in wartime. Laboratory tests have proved that the colours should stand up to dry cleaning and the weaves have strength to resist pulling at the seams.

find plenty of dinner dresses, but if you want swishy swirl skirts, sleeveless bodices or bare shoulders, you have plenty of hunting ahead.

May we suggest you have your formal made. There are oodles of pretty patterns to choose from. All you have to do is visit one of the large department stores and look at their Butterick or Vogue fashion books. If you are one of the rare geni who can sew, or if you have a mother who can, you're lucky. If not, there are many dressmakers around the city eager to help you. But a word of warning re this last:... You'd better choose your materials and pattern right away for most of the dressmakers are very busy these days and orders have to be left some time in advance. The advantages of wearing a dress-maker made dress are numerous... no worry about meeting your double; you can choose your own materials and colours; and best of all, your dress will fit you as perfectly as possible.

May we suggest that, if you are in the Freshman class and have a perfectly good graduation dress you're dubious about wearing... may we suggest that you try dyeing it. You'll be surprised how well white dyes, and you can get some really lovely shades of green, blue, purple and rose. Or if you want to be mysterious and exotic, you might want to dye it black. Apropos of this, you can try changing the trimmings of your dress... the removal of a frill here, the addition here... the addition of a few bows, a little lace, the changing of the style of the sleeves... you should be handy with the needle before you try this last though.

May we suggest that if you are intending to buy a new pair of evening slippers, you get fairly expensive ones. For even if a three dollar slipper may at first look as good as a ten dollar one, there is really a world of difference in the comfort they give. A good dancing slipper is a good investment... soles are more flexible, satin will not rub as quickly, gold and silver colouring will not wear off... and you won't need a new pair of slippers every time you get a new dress.

Concerning evening wraps, you'll find plenty of lovely red, and black velvets, and a number of fur trimmed cloths about town. Don't trust your roommate to lend you hers. Get your own.

May we suggest as an excellent way of changing the appearance of an old evening gown that you get a new set of accessories. The addition of a few sequins, or of some antique-looking gilt jewellery will make last year's gown a new creation. Heavy-looking bracelets and necklaces are decidedly flattering. If your gown is very formal, earrings are in order. But leave them off the "Cinderella" evening dress. A flower in your hair is a pretty addition to this last.

Just one last word on make-up. Choose your makeup to suit the colour of your dress as well as your own colouring. Don't mix orange-reds with purple or wine gowns. Wear bright reds with black; dark maroon-tinted reds with greens and browns; pinky-reds with light blue; cherry reds with deep blue; and light reds with white; orchid will go nicely with all purples and some blues. Go easy on the rouge, and be sure it has the same tint as your lipstick. You can get lipsticks, rouge and nail polish to match in many make-up brands, and it's safe to use these. Perfume is another thing to go easy on. It's a case where a little good (stuff) goes a long way. With this, we wish you a beautiful Prom and plenty of compliments from both the girls and boys.

To the Editor, McGill Daily, McGill University, Montreal:
Sir,—Never before in the history of the University have the students shown less appreciation to the cause which is common to all freedom loving people.

Instead of turning out en masse for the meeting which was sponsored to pay tribute to the young women and men of the Allied Nations who fell in the defence of freedom, the students of McGill disregarded this contribution of their fellow students in other parts of the world, and did not think it was necessary to attend.

If there ever existed an international solidarity among the students of all countries it was certainly dead at that moment.

It is bad to forget your friend when he is safe, but it is vile to forget him in danger.

We will not say more! We are leaving it for your own consideration.

But this is not all. Last Thursday when different people representing Allied Nations were asked to speak before the meeting, we, the Polish students at McGill were told that there was no time for any of us to say a few words about Poland.

We do not know what the general opinion of the Canadian students has to say on the contribution of Poland to the common cause but we have seen bodies of boys and girls slain by Germans in the streets of Warsaw and we know that they gave all they had in defence of freedom.

If the students of McGill could listen to not less than three French speakers and to one talking at length about German students, they certainly would not mind hearing something about the country which was first to oppose Hitler.

But there was no time to hear about Poland as the organizers found it more appropriate to devote this time to a German speaker.

Yours truly
Polish Students at McGill University.

P.S. As we have heard so much at the rally about what is being done for the enemy students in the internment camps we would like to publish the enclosed article which will show the other side of the picture.

THE SPEECH THAT WAS NEVER MADE

(It was to be given at the Students' Rally on November 19th.)

We have heard about all the wonderful things that are being done for the enemy students by the I.S.S. Everybody knows how well the German internees and prisoners of war are treated in Canada.

The following is a reprint from the British Press.

"Ever since Dr. Hans Frank was installed in Cracow as Governor-General of occupied Poland the Germans have concentrated their destructive activity on Polish Universities.

No more eloquent indictment of the German invaders could be framed than the roll of honour of the teaching staff and students, tortured to death or murdered in cold blood by the bestial Huns.

The roll of honour contains the names of:

51 professors who died in different concentration camps or after release from them.

27 professors who were executed or died as result of war operations.

50% of the Polish people placed in concentration camps are below 30 years of age.

Recently 3,000 boys between the ages of 12 and 18 were put in concentration camps.

The mortality in all camps is exceedingly high.

The imprisoned students are not only deprived of any intellectual life but are starved, humiliated and often tortured to death.

The conditions in primary schools are sorrowful. During winter months the schools are closed because the German authorities do not supply any fuel for heating the classrooms. The health of children is absolutely neglected, they are underfed, they contract tuberculosis and other diseases due to lack of food.

In 1939 all Polish textbooks were confiscated so as to make impossible the study of the Polish language.

But the spirit of the Polish youth cannot be broken.

In May 1941 twelve Polish school boys who were about to be executed cried out before their death: "The Germans will lose this war! Long live POLAND!"

To the Editor McGill Daily:

Dear Sir,—Every criticism of H. C. F. Shatan to date has been either on a personal basis or on some of the side-remarks in his article. By Gad, Alan Thompson, Joan Cassidy, and especially Winston Mahabir have all failed to distinguish the chaff from the husk.

Mr. Shatan's personal eccentricities and idiosyncracies are not the issue at stake, but rather the fundamental principle which he presented as: "It's about time you removed your cloak of false impartiality and threw open the doors of the Daily for discussion of... the war." Or as put by the Editor of the Manitoban: "Another thing is that you are too impartial. You do not include enough outside facts, on which you may have valuable opinions." I seem to notice that politics are taboo in the Daily. Or as stated by Norman Hillier of the Debating Union: "Some enlightened leadership is needed if we are to make any real contribution either to the war effort or to peacetime planning. You, sir (the editor), are the one official on the campus in a position to provide this leadership."

If you wish to vilify the character of Mr. Shatan, Mr. Mahabir, you might well do it man-to-man with Mr. Shatan, instead of doing it through the medium of the Daily, the quality of which you only help to debase with an article of such disguised obscenity. Moreover the clear thought and keen insight of your excellent article in the Political Comment column makes it all the more surprising that an individual with such remarkable talent as you have should descend to such a low literary level. And by the way, Mr. Mahabir, did it ever occur to you that the Political Comment column which allowed you to express your views would probably never have been instituted had it not been for the commendable and straightforward agitation of such individuals as Mr. Shatan.

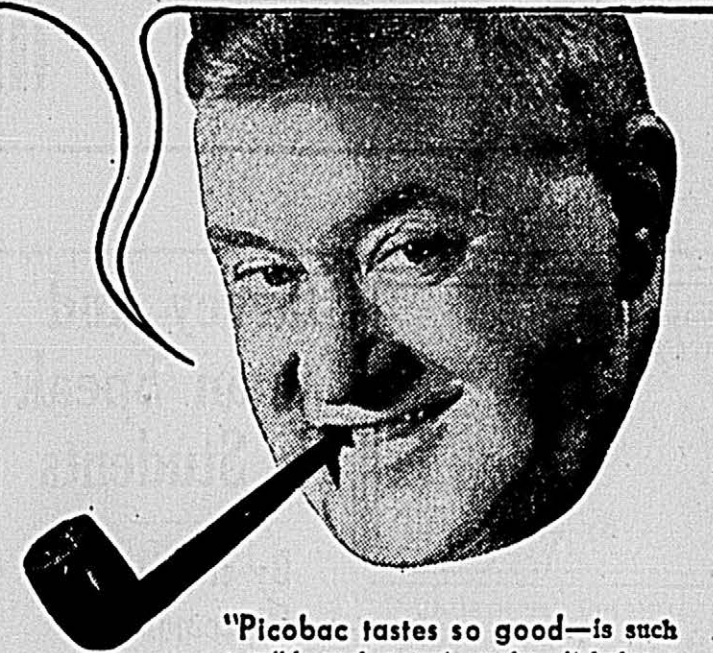

"The dog that bit
The hand of the man
That fed him."

Mr. Mahabir's article could be dismissed as a rash mistake or a temporary impulsive loss of perspective except for his mention of "those who have similar social and political affiliations as he theoretically has," which is strongly suggestive of ulterior motives. Exactly whom are you trying to intimidate, or smear, or what are you trying to do, Mr. Mahabir? Why not speak to us in clear direct language with no punches pulled, as you did in the Political Comment column, and as Shatan did in his letter? Furthermore, when you describe Mr. Shatan's affiliations as theoretical, do you mean to suggest that Shatan does not practice what he preaches. I, who have very close contact with Mr. Shatan, can vouch with absolute certainty that he more than fulfills the obligations to which his affiliations bind him.

Finally I might suggest to Mr. Mahabir that his greatest contributions to campus life would be to continue his wholesome articles in the Political Comment column, and his fine work in the Debating Union and the Student Labour Club, but by all means keep out of the Letter Forum if that necessitates such a shameful letter as the one printed in yesterday's daily.

Redmen Tackle Army in N.D.H.L. Fixture Friday

Are Hopeful of Making Triple Tie for Lead

Having met their first snag along the hockey trail—the Navy sextet—after a very auspicious debut, the Redmen will be out to avenge their first defeat, and begin an uphill battle toward reaching, again, the top of the league. The intended victims will be the Montreal District Army squad, and the encounter will raise the curtain on the regular N.D.H.L. double-header, Friday night at 8.00 p.m.

How soon they hit first place is going to depend as much on the Air Force entry as upon the collegians themselves. By defeating the Army, they can either gain sole possession of the second spot, or place in a three-way tie for the leadership of the league. The latter would be the case if the Flyers can come through

"A" Wing Dominates First Day of Basketball Play

The Intramural basketball league got underway yesterday afternoon, with the "A" Wing teams victors in the two out of three scheduled matches, that were played.

Neville Lefcoe of "D" Company led the day's scorers with eleven points, as his squad lost a close 21-19 decision to AW-2. Roy Wolvin also scored for the losers with seven points. Ross and Eastwood led the victors' attack with six points each.

Leo Rozentzweig and Gerry Leonards of the city league teams led AW-3 to a 28-13 win over E-1 with nine points each. Tepner and Hamevich each counted four points for the winners.

McGill Snipers Fall Back in Scoring Race

Emberg Keeps Lead With Teammates At His Heels

The R.C.A.F. snipers stole the Navy's thunder when they found the Army nets for eleven goals, to take over the first three positions in the scoring race, by passing Bud Farmer of McGill and Buchanan of the Navy, who were engaged in a low-scoring tussle the past week-end.

Eddie Emberg alone retained his position at the top of the heap, and strengthened it by counting one goal and participating in six other scoring plays. Pat Desblens and Jimmy Planché, playing their first N.D.H.L. game, wound up in second and third position respectively, each notching four goals, while Desblens picked up four assists as well. The Navy still boasts five representatives in the first ten positions, as the McGill forwards were able to gain little ground.

FARMER FIFTH.
Bud Farmer slipped from a first place tie to fifth position as he was only able to garner one goal for his second games total, while Johnny Costigan slipped one and Tommy Hale two places, as they each picked up one point.

Ray Mullins, idle over the last week-end, lost his penalty leadership to Bruce Ward of McGill and Bert Shepherd, of the Navy, each having served eight minutes.

Tennis Tournament Moves into Quarter-finals This Afternoon

The rejuvenated McGill tennis tournament passes into the quarter-finals this afternoon with two matches scheduled, and the round will be completed tomorrow afternoon. Thus far the players have not felt any disadvantage of the Montreal Indoor Tennis Club courts, as they are made of a form or red clay known as "entoucas," and are among the best on the continent.

Yesterday's draw proceeded without incident, as Bob Watt, the favorite, defeated Archie Ramsey in straight sets, and Walter Palmer downed Maurice Gobeil in a very closely-contested match, 6-4, 4-6, 7-5.

This afternoon, Jean Richer, seeded third and former McGill titleholder, who has advanced easily so far in the tournament, meets Jack Hayes at 1.15 p.m. In the other quarter-final match, starting at the same hour, Breen Marlen faces Frelsenbruch, who effected the biggest upset of journey to date, by upsetting Jim Duff, the fourth in the seeding list.

Tomorrow, at 1.15 p.m., Elwood Henneman, last year's runner-up, faces Walter Palmer, while at 2.00 p.m., Watt plays Milton McDowall, the West Indian, who has displayed some fine tennis in reaching the quarter-finals.

According to the seeding, the winner of the Watt-McDowall match will play the winner of the Richer-Hayes tussle, in one semi-final bracket.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

Palmer defeated Gobeil, 6-4, 4-6, 7-5.

Watt defeated Ramsey, 6-0, 6-0.

TODAY'S DRAW

1.15 p.m.: Jack Hayes vs. Jean Richer.

1.15 p.m.: Breen Marlen vs. R. E. Frelsenbruch.

TOMORROW'S DRAW

1.15 p.m.: Elwood Henneman vs. Walter Palmer.

2.00 p.m.: Bob Watt vs. Milton McDowall.

Scores for the first round are as follows: B1 defeated B2; B1 defeated B3; B2 defeated B3.

Red Hoopsters to Meet Navy Cagers This Friday

Coeds Win Telegraphic Archery Tournament

The coed archery club is in full swing now, and their first important achievement, announced yesterday, is the winning of the telegraphic archery tournament. The girls have been working very hard this year, and the results certainly have justified their efforts. This is the first time since it has entered this tournament that the McGill Coed Team has come out on top; and the girls are eagerly looking forward to other possible competitions in the future.

The results of the telegraphic tournament are as follows:
McGill 1,338
Ontario Ladies College 1,299
Queen's University 1,288

The girls on the McGill team were Betty Kelly, Joanne Shaw, Mary Dakin, Lois Cochrane, Jean McNab, Moira Cummings, Madeline Pigeon, Elaine Miner.

The archery club is making plans for a very active season, of which the most important events are intersection competition to begin shortly, and a ladder tournament, which will get under way next term.

A novel event is planned for tomorrow afternoon, and will take the form of a William Tell Meet, to be held in the lower gym, R.V.C., from 4.00 to 6.00 p.m. William Tells in effigy will be affixed to the targets, and the archers' scores will be rated according to the accuracy with which they shoot at the apples on the gentlemen's heads. The apple is the bull's eye, but points will also be awarded for hitting legs, arms, etc. This is just an informal meet designed to vary the regular practices a bit. Girls do not have to be expert archers to take part, and everyone interested is invited to turn out.

WRESTLING PRACTICES

Wrestling practices will be held on Tuesdays and Fridays at 5.15 p.m. in the B.W. & F. room.

Redmen Out for Second Win in Service League Game

The McGill service cagers will meet the fleetfooted Navy squad in their second outing of the year this Friday night at 8.15 p.m. at the Arthur Currie Gymnasium. The Red Hoopsters will be gunning for their second victory of the season and a firm grasp on first place in the standings.

In their first game of the season Coach Van Wagners' boys unleashed one of the strongest scoring barges ever put up by a McGill squad on the gymnasium floor, while at the same time they were able to hold off the scoring attacks let loose by the Airmen. In their zeal to keep the Flyers' forwards in check, the Redmen were inclined to let the play get ragged and sloppy.

FORWARDS FAST

The McGill forwards showed up very well and although there was no man on the floor who scored more than four baskets, the players showed that they knew what to do with the ball once they got it in their possession. The passing of the McGill team was good and their plays seemed to be well timed, while Mahon twice dribbled the ball the length of the court to score two baskets.

This Friday, however, the Red and White will meet up with a team which has shown a very strong passing attack in addition to a powerful defence and if the C.O.T.C. squad allows the play to become as ragged as it did on Friday night last, they will find themselves at the short end of the score at the end of the game.

The McGill entry in the M.B.L. will open its season on Friday, Dec. 3.00 to 4.30 in the B. W. & F. Room.

4 at the gymnasium. This team appears to have the strongest squad in the league. There is, nevertheless, a possibility that the Air Force teams will be very strong as they contain many players from the U.S. and the western sections of Canada. The Oilers, last year's Eastern Canadian champions, have not yet announced their lineup and appear to be the dark horse in this season's basketball race.

FENCING

Mixed fencing practices will be held every Saturday afternoon from 3.00 to 4.30 in the B. W. & F. Room.

Political Comment

ness an article in today's "Daily" assailing with considerable vehemence and condescension a recent letter of mine on Wendell Willkie's criticism of Churchill.

The author demonstrates his laudable patriotism and noble aspirations almost in the beginning of his article, when he states that "Criticism of Allied leaders is a fundamental attribute of our precious Democratic way of life." That sentence in itself, (somewhat trite as it may be), cannot be denied by any reasonable individual as long as that criticism is constructive and is motivated by a sincere desire for the betterment of existing conditions. Willkie's criticism is certainly by no means constructive; whether his motive happened to be sincere is debatable. But in any event examine his statement; he says that "Immediate equal distribution of territory and raw materials is essential to the future well being of the world." If anyone were to take Willkie's assertion seriously as Mr. Mahabir appears to have done, then we would have the following situation. The U.S. would invade certain portions of Canada as there are too few people in Canada and too many people in the U.S. proportionately. Germany being overcrowded should be allowed to maintain her grip in Russia to live up to Willkie's equal distribution of territory, while the huddled masses of Poland should probably take over Australia, or if Mr. Mahabir resents European domination anywhere then the Maoris should breed as fast as possible so that the native population will be proportionate to their area and the wicked English can no longer have an excuse to continue their dreadful tyranny.

Secondly, Mr. Mahabir in his cataloguing of my deeply abysmal ignorance, refutes the fact that Great Britain would return "Independence" to those of her possessions that should ask for it. Actually he misquoted me broadly, I said that Britain would be perfectly willing to DIS-CUSS such a problem. There was no mention of accession to such a demand unless it were well founded. In this day and age it is necessary to face facts, not surround ourselves with vague and shadowy dreams of an International Utopia; if it were possible at this stage for everyone to have equal rights and equal distribution of property, then we should have in the opinion of some people an ideal existence, but as Mr. Mahabir will agree, it would not be fair if he worked hard all year and were to be given the same marks as another student who had done no work at all, simply for equal distribution of reward and property. It is unnecessary to continue the metaphor further; from this basis all economic and international structures are built up. It is useless for hypocrites and fanatics to attempt to justify racial and colonial expansion in terms of benevolence; a simple biological and psychological cause has produced all cycles of decline and fall throughout history. We want to win this war, and we shall win this war if we remain firmly allied, but we shall not win if selfish politicians continue to make critical statements that do nothing but lead to schisms within our ranks. God knows there will be enough bickering among the ex-allies as soon as the war is over, but until then let us at least continue our coalition for as long as it remains necessary for our own safety.

Sincerely,
Francis Allen.

In Answer to Mr. Mahabir

No one is appalled at the idea of criticizing Mr. Churchill or other leaders of the United Nations; no rational person will claim that these leaders are infallible and immune from all human weaknesses. Your argument, sir, loses its force and misses the point when you obviously misinterpret the motives of the writer.

I feel that Mr. Allen was endeavouring to present an opinion which is shared by a large number of people. That opinion was admirably expressed by Mr. William Munroe when he said that Britain never denied sovereignty to those of her possessions which were capable of using it.

You may disagree with the picture of a benevolent and paternal Britain ruling over India and other colonies. The history of British Imperial rule is a weird mixture of paternalism and despotism which offers excellent cases both pro and con on the desirability of British rule.

One factor emerges clearly. The Malayan and Burmese campaigns showed to the world that years of British rule had not won the natives to her in her hour of need. The reverse happened, and we need only contrast it with the heroic stand that the native Philippines put up with their American comrades-in-arms.

Perhaps the solution of this problem is a United Nations commission as a temporary governing body after the war. But the Malayan and Burmese people may object, demanding complete independence. Before we can co-operate with and help them, we have to convince them of our sincerity and adherence to the four freedoms. To those in all of Britain's colonies who know about it, Mr. Churchill's statement did more to convince them of our chauvinism than anything which has happened since the negotiations with India, unless it is the "expedient alliance" with Darlan.

Of course Mr. Churchill may have been misinterpreted, I sincerely hope so; but for a man in his position to make a statement of that nature which arouses such antagonism and mistrust, is sheer idiocy if it does not represent his and his government's opinion. No qualification has come from him or any other representatives, just a grim silence.

An acquaintance of mine suggested that, since we seem to be in a position of winning the war, Mr. Churchill and his friends have decided it is time to condition the people to their post-war policy.

Annual Photographs

The following graduating students are expected to have their pictures taken at Jacoby Studios, 1541 Crescent Street Wednesday, for publication in the Annual. They will be taken at any time from 9.30 a.m. to 6.30 p.m. without appointment, except Saturdays. Appointments for sittings at other hours, if necessary, may be made by phoning PL 1075 for an appointment.

The price, $2.25 (or $2.75 if a finished portrait is desired), is payable at time of sitting.

NOTE—The names of several graduating students have unfortunately been omitted from these published lists. This is regrettable but nonetheless unavoidable. These lists are obtained from the Registrar's Office and are thus the best available.

All graduating students should have their photographs taken. The lists which are published serve as a guide, indicating to the student which day he should go to the Studios. Any student whose name is not on the list, yet is graduating this year, should have his picture taken at the same time as the rest of his class.

Law

FRIDAY

All graduating students in the Faculty of Law are to have their pictures taken on this day.

Thus far they have been the target for the fattening of the scoring averages of the Navy and Air Force players, five of whom have been able to top the leading McGill point-getter, Bud Farmer. The McGill defensive set-up has carried a good deal of the team's weight during the early part of the campaign, and except for the duration of Bruce Ward's fatal penalty, last Friday night, has turned back the best that the league has to offer. The forwards have been improving all along, and if Farmer or Costigan had found the range on their breakaway, in the closing minutes of the last game, the decision might have been reversed. Bud Farmer seems to have re-ing the Prom a success are now well under way. It is expected that the Junior Prom Committee will issue an order banning all corsages from the dance. Last year a similar request was made, but there were some who did not comply with the ruling. These, however, were asked to check the corsages with their wraps.

The Architects are in charge of all decorations for the dance, and a committee, headed by Barbara Ferguson, is now working on the theme of the decorations. The floor plan is being arranged by Lois Cochrane working in conjunction with Allan Farmer who is also in charge of all reservations. Lawrence Smith handles the tickets for the dance, while M. J. Waterman is looking after the refreshments.

Headed by Mark McKeown, Law student, the Junior Prom Committee includes Lois Neill, of R.V.C., Bob Watt from the Commerce Faculty, M. J. Waterman from Dentistry, Mike Rossy is in charge of publicity, Raymond Rose is the Council representative, Lois Cochrane of the McGill School of Physical Education, Barbara Ferguson from Architecture, Peter Patch, Medicine, and Lawrence Smith from the faculty of Arts and Science.

Letter Forum

I shall keep anonymity so as to prevent further personal slander from spreading to the columns of the Daily.

A non-apathetic student.

Editor, McGill Daily:

Sir,—Having read Mr. Irving Massey's letter in today's Daily, we are prompted to reply in kind to this rather puerile outburst. However the ordinary rules of good form bid us not to. Has Mr. Massey arrived at the illuminating conclusion that "class distinctions, social snobism, race prejudices, and narrow reactionary spirit" are the outstanding features of the majority of Arts students at McGill, on the basis of the small attendance at the International Student Day Rally last Thursday night? Or is it the result of careful observation during the past three years of his attendance here? If the latter is the case, why doesn't he state concrete instances? Surely a man so broad-minded as Mr. Massey wouldn't choose to rest his case on a generalization from one incident.

Presumably Mr. Massey is a member of that happy minority which considers itself to be above such prejudices which he claims pervade the Arts faculty. The charge of a "Junker student spirit" is too serious to be bandied about lightly; once again on what basis does he make this charge. If as he says the Arts faculty is worse than useless why is he in that faculty. Surely then his letter was meant to be in the nature of a joke. Perhaps he is partaking in McGill's new indoor sport writing letters to the Daily. His efforts would be more fruitful on a soap-box at Roddick Gates in an attempt to convert his fellow Artsmen.

Sincerely,
KHAYYAM PALTIEEL,
IRVING SIRKEN.

The Editor, McGill Daily.

Dear Sir,
In Tuesday's Daily you published a letter from a "publicity agent" who complains of the poor publicity given to a rather important meeting. Surely it is obvious that to be a publicity agent implies that one is responsible for the stories which are to appear in the Daily, not merely incorporating the relevant informant in incoherent telephone calls a few minutes before the Daily goes to press, or in letters to the editor complaining of inexcusable neglect, etc.

I would like to point out that the inexcusable neglect referred to should be laid at the feet of the publicity manager concerned, rather than at the already overworked Daily staff.

In this matter, I am speaking from experience, having been publicity manager of various events, such as the student rally on November 19th, and have found the Daily staff most co-operative. On those occasions when the form of the publicity was of paramount importance, I made it my business to write the stories myself, thus eliminating all possibility of misunderstanding or error.

lated effort to "pass the buck" to others.

Yours truly,
J. T. N. ATKINSON, Eng. '44.

Editor McGill Daily.

Dear Sir:

Students are supposed to be able to consider a problem rationally and without becoming hysterical. Unfortunately, in the past few issues there have appeared letters which have deliberately attempted to be sensational and were thus grossly exaggerated in their accusations. I have also noticed a good deal of sarcastic writing. Sarcasm certainly doesn't encourage tolerance and the intelligent discussion of differences of opinion.

I refer particularly to Mr. Massey's letter in today's "Daily." He begins by sneering at the Arts faculty for not turning up in sufficient numbers at the International Students' Day meeting. It is quite true that Artsmen should have attended the meeting. However, this does not justify the accusation that "the outstanding features of the majority of Arts students at McGill are class distinctions, social snobism, race prejudice, and narrow reactionary spirit," or "A university like McGill with its Junker student spirit would not have much difficulty in falling in with the Nazi line of thought."

Surely, Mr. Massey, as an Arts student, claiming to be preparing for the "New Life" in a "War-free" world, would have a little more tolerance for the failings of his fellow students.

Yours very truly,
DAVID SCHWARTZMAN B.A. II.

No Hurry

The fellow stepped up to the door. He knocked and the door was opened by a beautiful blonde.

"May I speak to your husband for a moment?" asked the fellow.

"I'm sorry," she said, "but my husband is away on business. He won't be back for at least two weeks."

The fellow pondered. "That's all right," he murmured, "I'll wait." —Queen's Journal.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

To make sure that trains will not be held up for hockey teams in future, the N.H.L. has decided that there will be no more overtime periods. This will force both teams to put on the pressure in the closing minutes of the game instead of saving their energy for the overtime session. . . . The N.H.L. celebrated its 25th anniversary last Sunday, and Frank Calder and Tommy Gorman are the only two living sportsmen who attended the first meeting. . . . Art Ross of the Boston Club has forbidden his Bruins to take taxi cabs when going from their hotel to the hockey rinks. . . . The number of men that each N.H.L. team can carry has been reduced from 15 to 14 players, and there is no longer a compulsory minimum of 12 men. . . . Leo Durocher has come to terms with Branch Rickey of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and will pilot "dem bums" again for another season.

holds the opinion that no Canadian troops should fight outside the Dominion under any circumstances.

Mr. Lunan has been in close contact with the government for some time, and will make statements about the present policy of drafting youth into the army that will be of interest to the entire student body. The meeting is being sponsored by the Student Labour Club, and is open to all who are interested. A member of the executive stated that there would possibly be a third speaker at the meeting, but that the gathering would be of short duration in any case.

against Hugh Farquharson's fast-stepping sailors. Going by previous performances, Navy gets the nod, but the hard-hitting flyer defence might easily slow up the lighter speedsters considerably. If the sailors continue their winning ways, they will hold down first place with at least a two-point margin over McGill.

ARMY HAS FARED BADLY

So far the Army team has been the enigma of the league, and there is no telling what they can do. They skated out two different teams for their first two games, suffered two thrashings, and were picked as contenders in the pre-season speculation, due to the presence on the roster of such proven performers as Kilby MacDonald, Jimmy Peters, and Moe White.
